8. Who is covered?

The original purchaser is covered. In the case that a builder or developer purchases the flooring, the occupant of the residential home 12 months after the purchase of the flooring will be entitled to cover under this warranty, effective from the date of the initial purchase. The warranty only becomes effective when full payment for the product has been made.

9. How to evoke a claim?

To evoke a claim under this warranty, communication with the retailer that the flooring was purchased from must be made within 30 days of noticing the problem. Proof of purchase will most often be required when contact with the retailer is made. The retailer will then contact the authorised Maxsen Floors Distributor to arrange an inspection of the flooring installed, shortly after which a determination will be made regarding the warranty claim. Only duly authorised representatives of the manufacturer/distributor can authorise a claim. If a claim is authorised, remedies will be tailored to suit individual circumstances. Remedies can vary depending on the condition of the floor and warrantable area from full floor replacement to the repair of individual boards. The remedy on each claim will be at the sole discretion of Maxsen Floors. Should board replacement be necessary, new boards from the current batch will be supplied to replace or repair boards. This warranty is in addition to and has no impact on, the statutory rights of any purchaser. Claims must be lodged by contacting the retailer from where the flooring was purchased within 30 days of the problem being noticed.

10. Australian Consumer Law

Our goods come with guarantees that cannot be excluded under the Australian Consumer Law. You are entitled to a replacement or refund for a major failure and compensation for any other reasonably foreseeable loss or damage. You are also entitled to have the goods repaired or replaced if goods fail to be of acceptable quality and the failure does not amount to a major failure. Acceptable Quality Maxsen Floors Flooring is fit for use in internal environments/installations and should not be used externally. Furthermore, Maxsen Floors Laminate & Hybrid should not be directly glued /adhered or pinned to a subfloor and must be installed as a floating floor.

These flooring ranges should be installed in a "laminated flooring friendly environment" in which the area is occupied, protected from direct heat and sunlight and where heating and cooling systems are in place and used to control the internal temperatures and humidity. Careful attention should be paid to relevant installation instructions and care and maintenance guidelines as failure to adhere to recommendations may result in flooring failure.

11. Major Failure

Maxsen Floors Flooring is resistant to chips, scratches, stains and wear but is not “proof” in any respect and reasonable care should be taken to avoid scratching chips & damage from occurring. In addition, some gloss variation between boards installed may occur. Maxsen Floors products as listed below

Laminates are made using High-Density Fibreboard in the core,

Oaks are made using a multilayer timber plywood core

Hybrid & Vinyl are made using blends of PVC in the core

These are all materials that can be susceptible to seasonal movement, creating small gaps between the joins of each board. Note that small gaps, gloss variation, scratches and chips are NOT considered major failures. They are considered part of purchasing a vinyl, laminate, hybrid, Oak floor. These definitions are not intended to reduce or diminish the statutory rights of any purchaser.

As these warranties for Maxsen Floors flooring deal only with the manufactured goods, installation warranties should be sought from the installation company or individual completing the installation. The warranty will be made void if unusual man-made or natural disasters, including leaks, broken plumbing, fire, flood, rising water, earthquake or standing water occur during or after installation.
